

Miller-Morton Company
2007 North Hamilton Street
Richmond, Virginia 23230

MILLER-MORTON
A SUBSIDIARY OF A. H. ROBINS

February 13, 1974

Rabbi Israel Hisiger
1763 East Tenth Street
Brooklyn, New York 11223

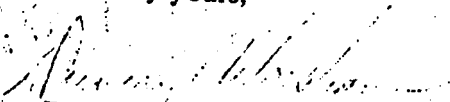

Dear Rabbi Hisiger:

Our parent Company, A. H. Robins, manufactures Robitussin. The glyceryl guaiacolate used in their product is synthetically produced.

Glycerine normally is prepared through a synthetic route, but can also be produced by fermentation. Animal, marine and vegetable oils are also used, through the soap making process, of which glycerine is a by-product.

We don't intend to use animal sources at all.

Cordially yours,

Duncan C. Worsham
Supervisor of Quality Assurance

DCW/hi

Mr. Ira M. Langer

- 2 -

December 7, 1973

I hope the enclosed information will be helpful, but if you should have any further questions, please do not hesitate to let us know.

Sincerely,

Anne W. Board, M.D.